The Gravity license system is based around a public key infrastructure. The provided infrastructure gives Remain the means to supply licenses in a secure and user friendly manner. Gravity licensing consists of two licensing parts, the Gravity license (also mentioned as product license) and the Gravity license Confirm Key. The Gravity product license contains information regarding the actual license, for example the name of the Gravity product being licensed and the number of users that can use the license. The Gravity license Confirm Key contains information on how license details can be extracted from the Gravity license. More information can be found on the Remain Software Extranet: https://remainsoftware.com/wiki/index.php/GR:Gravity/License_Management

The undersigned certifies that the licenses for Remain products on the systems to be replaced will not be used anymore. The undersigned also declares that all software and license information of Remain products on the systems to be replaced will be removed permanently should the machine(s) leave the company. The undersigned declares that the undersigned is authorized to undersign legal documents on behalf of the company.

License transfers may lead to contract changes. In case of financial consequences a proposal will be offered by our Sales department.
